

(demonym: solarian | sun | 'sʌn)

The Sun is a star rather than a planet located in the centre of our solar system. It is a near-perfect ball of hot plasma about 109 times larger than the Earth. It is believed to have formed over 4.8 billion years ago and is often considered the planet or star of self. The Sun is associated with the sun gods, Helios ad Ra. It is personified as your inner self's ego, personality, and vitality. The star sign associated with the Sun is Leo and is often seen as masculine or male identities. Though there is no direct LGBTQIA+ connection, it is associated with masculine gender identities. Ultimately the Sun is the driving force behind who or what we are at our core

