(demonym: mercurian | muh-kyuh-ree | mɜː.kjə.ri)

The planet Mercury is the smallest and closest to the Sun. The planet was named after Mercury, a Roman deity and the messenger of the gods. Within astrology, it is associated with the star signs Gemini and Virgo and is often considered the planet of communication. Mercury is personified as reason, communication, emotions, logic and rationality. The planet, from a gender perspective, is seen as transitional, so neither male nor female. The LGBTQIA+ connection is Mercury is linked to male eunuchs, transwomen and those that identify as Intersex. In addition, the symbol for Mercury is used by the transgender community. Ultimately Mercury is about dark and light, reason, logic and communication
