01 | OVERVIEW

Gayther is an online service home to one of the world's largest collections of current and relevant LGBTQIA+ information. To help people learn more about the community, Gayther developed a range of fun and entertaining games and activities. Learning about the community is fun, especially given that the LGBTQIA+ community has a long history that has been around for thousands of years and contains many well-known and notable people throughout all times and periods. The more engaged we are and the more fun we have, the more likely we are to learn and retain whatever facts and information has been presented. The LGBTQIA+ community does not disappoint, with many entertaining facts and statistics which will have people from inside and outside the community feeling a sense of pride and saying aloud, 'I did not know that'.

The more we learn about history, the less likely we will repeat the same mistakes. To help people learn, Gayther created material to engage everyone, from those who love fun facts to others who want to learn as they colour in an image. The games and activities are free, interactive and contain engaging content, with many available to download. Printable versions of activities that you can use when you are travelling, whether it is the personality tests that are a fun way to establish any possible connections to a particular sexuality or gender identity to the colour and learn drawings where you can colour in the image and, at the same time, learn more about a specific subject or theme.

The Gayther Trivia downloads are designed to help those wanting to organise a group activity with friends and family. For those who want a personal challenge, there is a selection of crosswords, word searches and quizzes. Whether you identify as LGBTQIA+ or not, are looking to have some fun and want to learn more about the community, then the Gayther fun and games resources can help.

"Engaging audiences and learning does not need to be hard or even a chore. We developed the fun and games resources as a way of helping to inform people more about the community, but at the same time making it both a fun and enjoyable experience," says Peter Williams, founder of Gayther.

"Creating engaging content was easy, especially given that the global LGBTQIA+ community is fascinating, made up of many interesting and entertaining individuals and packed with fun facts and engaging highlights. A diverse community spanning the globe with a long history that stretches thousands of years and has been an integral part of modern society."
