

BIANGLES 03

GAYTHER COLOUR AND LEARN

Represents bisexuality (attraction to more than one gender)

The biangles consist of two overlapping triangles, traditionally coloured pink and blue, with a purple overlap. The symbolism is straightforward: the two colours represent attraction to different genders, while the purple overlap represents the combination of these attractions and bisexual identity.

INTERESTING FACT

Bisexual erasure is the tendency to dismiss, ignore, or invalidate bisexuality—for example, by describing it as a “phase,” confusion, or indecision. It can occur both within and outside LGBTQ+ communities.
