

RAINBOW 12

GAYTHER COLOUR AND LEARN

Represents the wider LGBTQIA+ community (pride and unity)

The rainbow is a widely recognised visual symbol of the LGBTQIA+ community. Its many colours can represent diversity, inclusion and the idea of different identities coming together as one. As a simple, instantly recognisable image, the rainbow has become closely associated with LGBTQIA+ pride, community and acceptance.

INTERESTING FACT

The Split Attraction Model (SAM) is a framework used by some people to distinguish between different forms of attraction, such as sexual and romantic attraction. These forms of attraction do not necessarily occur together or point in the same direction.
